

From www.family-outdoors.com

CAMPING GEAR Checklist

While quantities may vary according to the size of your tent, the length of your trip and the number of people in your group, your basic camping kit will comprise the following items:

- Tent
- Fly
- Tarp
- Tent pegs
- Tent poles
- Guy ropes
- Hammer
- Portable lights, Flashlights, or lantern
- Fold-up table
- Chairs
- Tent repair kit
- Large water container (for storage)
- Small water container (for personal use)

All your camping gear should be checked before you leave. Clean it and check it again upon your return.

Store all the equipment together, so when it's time to go again it is already packed and easily accounted for, saving you time and

Sleeping Gear

What you sleep on depends on what you feel comfortable with and how much space you have in your vehicle to transport it. As a minimum you will need to pack:

- Sleeping bag
- Sleeping Pad, Air Mattress, Etc.
- Blankets
- Pillows (inflatable or conventional)

Cooking Equipment

You don't need much cooking equipment. Most of your camp cooking and food preparation can be done using a simple kit:

- Portable gas stove
- Stand for gas stove
- Pans
- Waterproof matches
- Cutlery

Note some areas don't permit fires, or have restrictions on the collection of firewood. At other times total fire bans may be in place, necessitating the use of a gas stove. To be safe, always take a gas stove even if you plan to cook using firewood.

For cleaning up afterwards, you'll need:

- Bucket
- Paper towels
- towel
- Portable sink
- Scourers
- Disposable wipes
- Mild biodegradable detergent
- Plastic bags or garbage bags for food scraps
- Personal hygiene and toiletries

Your basics need to include enough of the following to last your trip:

- Soap
- Shampoo

hassles.

You also need to pack spares of these items in case of breakage or damage:

- Guy ropes
- Tent poles
- Tent pegs
- Tarp

- Utensils - long fork, large slotted spoon and tongs
- Can opener
- Plates and bowls
- Grill
- Skillet

If you prefer to cook with a fire, add these items to the list:

- Firewood
- Old newspaper (for lighting fire)
- Extra matches
- Fire starters (never use liquid fuels such as kerosene)
- Barbeque cleaning equipment
- Axe
- Campfire tripod

- Toothpaste
- Toothbrush
- Towel
- Toilet paper

If going to remote locations without facilities you may wish to consider:

- Portable shower
- Portable toilet
- Additional Clothing

In addition to your normal clothes, it is important to allow for bad weather conditions.

You should take:

- Boots
- Rain gear
- Spare clothing (kept dry)
- Hat
- Light long-sleeved shirt for sun protection
- Cold-weather clothing

Safety is paramount. On any camping trip, it is important to pack these essential safety items and have them at the ready:

- Flashlight
- Spare batteries
- Mobile phone
- Mobile-phone car charger
- Maps
- First aid kit

- Compass

While you might think you do not need maps for navigation, it is important to have maps on hand. Road maps can help you explain where you have broken down. A fire extinguisher is a vital part of your safety equipment.